Description	Manage accessories of a product in groups and offer ability to check out the main product and its accessories in just 1 click.
Merchant benefits	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Offer a bundle of products, therefore increase sales amazingly. ▪ Does it sound like combinations? Yes, it seems, but it's totally different. A product and its accessories are separated products; they are not different attributes of the product. ▪ Does it also sounds like a packed product? Yes it seems too. But your customers are free to choose one or more or even not choose any accessories to be checked out. It's very flexible. ▪ Don't you see any differences in compare to built-in accessory feature? Alright, it's very similar to, but instead of adding accessories, now you can add them in different groups of accessories. This is good suggestion for your customers in case they don't know what to buy with. ▪ And what about related product feature? Accessories are a kind of "related" and more structural. ▪ Beyond all of them, shopping has never been easy like this. Just choose accessories and click "Add to basket". All of accessories and the main product now are already in shopping cart!
Customer benefits	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Be easy to find out what they should check out ▪ Be flexible and has full right to select different accessories (or not) and add to shopping cart so quickly. ▪ Save time to get a bundle of their favorite products

- 6: Remove this accessory

2.4 Select accessories at frontend

Once being added to accessory groups of the current product, at frontend (product page) these groups (and accessories) look like combinations of the product.

Based on the module setting, you will have a different layout/style at the front-end. You can choose to show your accessories in dropdown lists or in check box lists. Each accessory group will be formed in a list.

You can select one or more accessories to buy with the current product. Actually, when you click on the “Add to basket” button, you’re checking out one main product (current one) and all its accessories that you chose as separated products. You can easily remove any of them later.

See how different configuration values create different layouts in screenshots below:

2.6 Volume discounts are taken into account

Despite of the main items or accessory items, their volume discounts (specific prices) are applied on fly.

The screenshot shows a product page for a 'Faded Short Sleeves T-shirt'. The page includes a main image of a woman wearing the shirt, a 'View larger' button, and a 'Display all pictures' link. The product details section shows the item name, reference, condition, and a description. It also displays the price of $78.42 and a quantity selector set to 5. A 'Must-have accessories' section lists two groups of items with their respective prices. A 'VOLUME DISCOUNTS' table shows the discount applied based on the quantity. A 'DATA SHEET' link is also present. A red overlay text 'Take volume discounts into account' is positioned over the product details and accessories sections.
